REFUND NOTE: If applicant fails to properly disclose information or in any way places the agency or its programs at risk, The Cradle reserves the right to terminate the adoption process without providing any refund. The President/CEO retains the right to assess individual cases and determine refunds for atypical cases.

As a not-for-profit organization, The Cradle makes every effort to keep adoption a financially accessible option for building your family. In fact, the fees do not cover the costs The Cradle incurs in providing counseling, outreach and educational services to all members of the adoption circle. The Cradle relies heavily on fund-raising and charitable giving for ongoing support of adoption services.

All fees are subject to change.
